

A nighttime photograph of the University of Tampa's domes, which are illuminated against a dark blue sky. The domes are made of copper and have a ribbed texture. The largest dome is in the foreground, and two smaller ones are visible behind it. The city lights of Tampa are visible in the background.

A small, stylized globe is centered in the image. On the surface of the globe, a cityscape is depicted, featuring several prominent buildings, including a large, ornate, light-colored building with a dome and columns, and a modern building with a curved, glass facade. The city is surrounded by green spaces and trees. The globe is set against a dark blue background with a subtle pattern of white clouds.
